LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A constitutional amendment to abolish capital punishment in Arkansas was proposed today in the Arkansas House.

Rep. Gean P. Houston of Clarendon County sponsored the measure, which also would tighten provisions for parole of any person sentenced to life imprisonment.

The measure provides that the governor "could not commute the sentence of a life-term unless such commutation was recommended by 25 per cent of the qualified voters of the county where the person was convicted or 5,000 votes, whichever was less."

It further provides that commutation would have to be recommended by one-half of the elected county and district officials of the county.

Rep. Milt Earnhart of Sebastian County proposed a constitutional amendment to provide $4,000 personal property tax exemptions for persons 65 or older.

Rep. N.B. Murphy of Ashley County introduced a bill to exempt outstanding students from payment of all tuition and matriculation fees at the state colleges or the University of Arkansas.

The bill would exempt all students ranking in the upper five per cent of their high school graduating classes.

Rep. Johnny Boatright of Sebastian County sponsored a bill which would permit deductions of all federal income taxes from gross

Fires Claims Four in New York

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Fires killed a mother and at least three children today in New York State. A fourth child was believed dead.

Mrs. John Magee and two sons, Mark, 3, and John Jr., 2, perished as flames destroyed their two-story, frame house beside Conesus Lake south of here.

Sharon Leidecker, 12, a daughter by a previous marriage, was missing.

At Oswego, northeast of here, Michael Fitzsimmons, 3, died in a fire that swept his parents' two-story, frame home. His sister, Lesca, 22 months, was burned critically. Their mother, Joyce Fitzsimmons, 29, suffered burns.

Firemen attributed the Oswego fire to an overheated television set. An explosion in a fuel oil tank may have caused the fire in the Magee home, they said.

Irked Senator Would Bar a 2nd Reporter

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A state senator's indignation caused all the fire works in the Arkansas legislature yesterday. He accused a Little Rock newspaper of "defaming" the legislators.

The General Assembly, in its second week, indulged little in its business of lawmaking. Each house approved only one bill apiece, although both chambers received a crop of new proposals.

The senate, however, adopted a motion to bar all Arkansas Democratic reporters but one from the legislature unless the newspaper prints a retraction to a recent article within 48 hours.

Sen. Jerry Sereeton of Hazen, waiving senatorial immunity, took the floor to lambast the article, written by reporter Marvin Baldwin for last Friday's edition of the Arkansas Democrat.

Baldwin's piece was a tongue-in-cheek analysis of the state legislature. But Sereeton found nothing amusing about it.

Baldwin wrote that the general assembly was referred to as a body "because it acts like it doesn't have a head"; that the House speaker "uses a hammer to crack pecans and heads when they come to close"; and that the sergeant-at-arms "hold a spear all day and when everybody's gone he starts picking up papers with it."

"I speak from an indignant and enraged heart," Sereeton told the Senate. He said Baldwin's article had hit a new low in what the senator termed a trend by certain elements of the press to ridicule lawmaking bodies.

As well as demanding a retraction or else, Sereeton's motion would specifically bar Baldwin from both chambers of the legislature.

The senators enthusiastically motioned "aye" in adopting the motion on a voice vote. The House now must act on the motion.

Gene Horrington, managing editor of the Democrat, said "the whole thing is ridiculous," and declined further comment.

Later, a freshman House member, Rep. Milt Earnhart of Sebastian County, issued a statement criticizing the Senate action.

"Although a new member of the Legislature, I feel someone should speak out against the bawling of a newsmen from sessions," Earnhart said. "This is the second such incident in recent days and I believe it could be a dangerous trend."

Senate GOPs Settle Their Differences

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's 34 Republican members finally settled today their differences over choice assignments on Senate committees.

Veteran members gave up some prized assignments to help make room for the three new GOP Senate members. They are Sens. Kenneth P. Keating (N.Y.), Winston L. Prouty (Vt.) and Hugh Scott (Pa.).

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (Mass.), who presided at the closed door meeting, announced the assignments.

Keating was named to the Senate Banking-Currency and Inflation committee, Prouty to the Labor-Public Welfare and District of Columbia committees, and Scott to the Commerce and Public Works committees.

Saltonstall said the senators did not consider a potential race for chairmanship of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona has been regarded as the likely choice for the chairmanship, but an insurgent group of GOP liberals have indicated they might try to block his election.

Ike's Budget Propaganda, Says Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said today the Senate today would President Eisenhower's offer of "a propaganda budget" that does not contain "a ghost of a promise of a 'tax cut' anywhere."

"Those who have been talking so loosely about tax cuts owe the people both an explanation and an apology," Johnson declared.

"It is clear to me that this budget was not prepared to meet the needs of the people but was prepared to create a political issue for 1960," he said.

Johnson's floor speech sent the congressional battle of the budget off to a roaring start.

Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) came out of a House Appropriations Committee meeting with top government fiscal experts and said he saw little hope for tax relief in "the foreseeable future."

At the White House, Republicans got a few blows at the Democrats on the spending issue.

GOP congressional leaders came out of a meeting with the President and hit at Democratic spending proposals on housing.

Cannon is chairman of the 50-member House committee, which started hearings on Eisenhower's 77-billion-dollar budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. Initial witnesses were Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Budget Director Maurice H. Stans.

Six Children Perish in Maine Fire

ASHLAND, Maine (AP) — Six children died today in one of Maine's worst fire tragedies. Four other members of Luther Tripp's family and two boarders escaped a flash fire that swiftly destroyed their rural home. The parents were injured in heroic rescue attempts.

The dead, Edna, 15; Ella, 12; Jeanne, 9; Alfred, 4; Barbara, 2; and Carolyn Tripp, 2.

Tripp, a 35-year-old lumber mill worker, and his 34-year-old wife Muriel, suffered severe burns. Mrs. Tripp also lost a lot of blood from a gash on one leg.

Rebecca, their 8-month-old daughter, was burned and suffered smoke inhalation.

Also burned, after two attempts to rescue some of the children, was Stanley Hickey, 20, Mrs. Tripp's half brother.

Luther, 40, and boarder Blynn Cox, 24, were unharmed. The survivors escaped by going out a front second floor window onto a porch roof.

Mrs. Tripp, with Rebecca in her arms, leaped from the porch into the snow-filled yard.

Lahr Named to Contractors Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Wade Lahr of Mountain Home yesterday was named to a five-year term on the state Contractors Licensing Board, replacing Louis C. Nelson of Little Rock.

The appointment was made by Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Thunderstorms Expected for State Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers and local thunderstorms are expected to break out in Arkansas today and the forecast calls for occasional high winds in all sections of the state.

A similar prospect is in store tonight and tomorrow.

The outbreak will stem from a collision of cold air from the north and a surge of warm air sweeping up from the south.

High temperatures today are expected to range from about 40 in extreme northeast Arkansas to 50 degrees in the south.

Freezing rain and sleet clumped a slippery coating over parts of Kansas and northern Oklahoma across Missouri to southern Illinois.

The weather bureau said the storm moving through the southern Rockies and Central Plains will intensify in the next 24 to 36 hours and could develop into a major storm.

"Highway travel is already becoming hazardous in portions of the central Plains," said a special weather bulletin. "Stockmen in the central high Plains are urged to take necessary precautions."

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock predicts a new cold spell for Arkansas. A high ridge extending from the Yukon is expected to move into the state late tonight, bringing a new mass of frigid air with it.

The mercury is due to fall sharply in north Arkansas tonight and tomorrow but less drastically in the rest of the state.

Weathermen expect lows ranging from the upper 20s to the mid 30s in north Arkansas tonight. Other lows will vary from the mid 30s in central Arkansas to possibly 50 in the south.

High temperatures yesterday ranged from 48 at Fort Smith to 60 at El Dorado. Light rain fell in all sections of Arkansas yesterday.

Dimes Drive Lagging Far Behind Goal

The $5,000 goal of the March of Dimes is still a long way from being reached according to Raymond Hughes, Hempstead County March of Dimes Chairman. To date, only about 150 March of Dimes Mailers have been returned of some 2000 sent out to residents of the county.

Carl Ward, campaign treasurer, asks that they be sent in to the First National Bank.

Several activities are still scheduled in behalf of the March of Dimes, including a double header basketball game between the Jaycees and the Lionses, and the Jaycees will be played at Jones Field House Wednesday night starting at 7 o'clock.

The Youth Center is sponsoring a chili supper at the W. O. building Saturday night at 6.

Local talent will be seen Saturday over KCMC during the Polio Telethon. Hempstead counties will have a Hope Phone number to call for making donations.

A Polio Benefit and Fashion Show is also scheduled soon, and all monies derived from all these activities will go toward helping crippled children all over the country and of course, here at home.

Johnson Offers a 4-Point Civil Rights Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas took the surprise action today of introducing bills for a four-point civil rights program.

Getting the jump on the Eisenhower administration, Johnson told the Senate he believes his bills will be a step toward the ultimate solution of the diverse civil rights issue.

Johnson's bills would:

1. Establish a community relations service as an independent federal agency "to keep open the channels of communication among our people."

2. Make the interstate transportation of explosives for bombing and interstate conspiracies to inculcate people with bombs, federal offenses.

3. Grant the attorney general subpoena powers in voting rights cases.

4. Extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission, now due to expire in September of this year, until Jan. 31, 1961.

House Bill Would Prevent 'Sitdowns'

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House today passed a bill prohibiting "sit-downs" in business establishments such as Oklahoma City, Negroes staged last summer.

The bill is similar to one which failed passage in the August, 1958, special session of the legislature because Gov. Orval E. Faubus said it was not within the purview of the session's call.

Sponsored by Rep. John O. Moore of Miller County and Talbot Field Jr. of Hempstead County, the bill would make it unlawful for any person to refuse to leave a business establishment on request of the owner or manager.

Failure to comply would be a misdemeanor punishable by fines up to $500 and imprisonment up to 30 days or both.

The vote was 92-0.

The act would forestall such incidents as happened in Oklahoma City, where Negroes staged a sit-down strike in drugstores and other places until they were served food at facilities previously reserved for whites.

The House earlier received a proposed constitutional amendment which would abolish capital punishment in Arkansas.

Officials Raise Money for Polio

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — A 17-hour bowl-aud, involving the mayors and sheriffs at El Dorado and Camden raised a total of $1,332 for the anti-polio March of Dimes early today.

The El Dorado contestants emerged victorious in the strenuous competition which began at 8 a.m. yesterday. El Dorado raised $1,127 in pledges compared to Camden's $705.

Pitted were a team of Union County Sheriff O. E. Bishop and Mayor W. N. McKinney of El Dorado versus Quachita County Sheriff Grover Lineberger Sr. and Camden Mayor Jim Rowen.

The pledges were accepted personally at the bowling alleys in the two cities and by telephone. One dollar was required for each ball, rolled.

On a basis of one point per pin, El Dorado won 5,137 to 3,111.

Some 200 Future Farmers of America from all over Arkansas will attend a recognition dinner in Little Rock January 27.

Attending from Hempstead County will be Norman Jones, Earl Jester, Robert Musgrove, and Gene Earl Jester, the latter will receive a $200 cash award for being the State Farmer of the Year.

Another building is getting a face-lifting and a new tenant. The old building formerly occupied by Cole's Double-Dip at Second and Walnut is now under repairs and will be the home of a bakery which will be operated by Joe Jones who is no stranger to the baking business in Hope.

If the Arkansas Legislature bars many more reporters, two have been ousted, reporting activities of the group could be seriously curtailed — perhaps some of our representatives should read

Feed Mill Construction Here Starts Soon; Industrial Group Re-Elects the Same Directors

Construction work on the $300,000 Cameron Feed Mill just south of Hope will begin within 30 days, Robert LaGrone, Jr., told the stockholders of the Hempstead County Industrial Foundation at its annual meeting last night at Hope city hall.

Ted Cameron of Little Rock had been invited to the meeting, but was delayed by the Little Rock and telephone Mr. LaGrone to speak for him and also to express his regrets in not being able to attend.

"Plans and specifications for the new mill are ready and we will begin construction work within 30 days," Mr. LaGrone quoted Mr. Cameron as saying.

"The project is a joint realization of Hope Chamber of Commerce and the Hempstead County Industrial Foundation. The plant will be located on 9.47 acres just south of the L. & A. Railway underpass. It will be known as Hope Feed Mills, Inc. Title to the land was conveyed to the Cameron concern last September 12 by the Industrial Foundation which had purchased it."

Cameron later returned $2,000.00, which represented a part of the original purchase price.

President James H. Pilkinton presided at last night's meeting, reviewed the organization's history and told of efforts the industrial group had made toward bringing new industry to Hope and to expand local industry.

"Our organization is primarily a financing group with community pledges of nearly $300,000 for capital investments in land and buildings," Judge Pilkinton emphasized.

Four directors whose terms were expiring were re-elected. They are: Ralph Lehman, Jr., Leonard Ellis, James H. Pilkinton and Paul McClanahan. They represent various business and professional groups.

Following adjournment of the stockholders meeting, 11 of the 18 directors met and re-elected the following officers:

James H. Pilkinton, president; Vincent W. Foster, vice-president; B. N. Holt, secretary-treasurer; M. H. Holt, secretary.

Holt reported that about half of the second-year pledges had already been paid.

Stock certificates are issued at $5 per share. Any person may buy stock in the foundation by contacting Mr. Holt at the chamber of commerce office.

Ike Tells Nation of Grave Choice Economically

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the nation faces a grave choice — either strict discipline to prevent a damaging inflation, or government controls "which are alien to our traditional way of life."

Eisenhower sent to Congress his economic report, third and last of the major annual messages. It announced a virtually full recovery from the recession, forecast record income and production in 1959, and held out hopes of tax reduction reasonably soon thereafter.

It asked 31 laws to help "assure a vigorous growth of our economy."

But the message, clearly, was meant as an alarm bell to rally labor, business and consumers to unite with the government in deflating the value of the dollar.

Wage rises that run ahead of increases in output per worker, Eisenhower said, push up prices, hurt sales and impede American competition in world markets.

Thus excessive wage costs obstruct the creation of new jobs, endanger the jobs of those now working, and "in short, they are in the end, self-defeating."

"The President appealed to industry to redouble its efforts to hold the price line and wages in check against costs," he urged consumers to shop carefully for price and quality.

He called on Congress "for the third time in a fortnight, to abide by the spending cuts in the 77-billion-dollar budget which he sent to the Capitol Monday for the year starting July 1."

This, he told, the legislators would be "the most important single step in discharging the government's responsibility to help preserve the stability of prices and costs through the prudent management of its own affairs."

If government's role in the economy is to be matched in the year starting next July 1, and if tax collections are swelled by the expected growth of income and business profits, Eisenhower said, then "a significant additional step in tax reduction and reform can be taken in the reasonably foreseeable future."

More directly than in the past, the President, aimed his exhortation at unions entering wage negotiations. "Leaders of labor unions have a particularly critical role to play, in view of the great power lodged in their hands," he asserted.

"Self-discipline and restraint are essential if reasonable stability of prices is to be reached, within the framework of the free competitive institutions."

"If the desired results cannot be achieved under our arrangements for determining wages and prices, the alternatives are either inflation, which would damage our economy and work hardships on millions of Americans, or controls, which are alien to our traditional way of life, and which would be an obstacle to the nation's economic growth and improvement."

Soviet Envoy Leaves for Homeland

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan left for Moscow today.

Before boarding a train for New York, where he will take a plane, Mikoyan told reporters:

"Please convey to the population of Washington and to all the people I met in the United States my gratitude for their very warm welcome and hospitality and their desire for peace and friendship with the Soviet Union. And when I arrive in my country I will come to high people all the best wishes and the desire for peace of the American people."

Mikoyan had a private car on a train, "directly behind" the engine. He boarded it during a steady rain which came with the first warm day since he arrived here 17 days ago.

More directly than in the past, the President

Student Payments Total $63,038

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State payments for Little Rock students attending schools in other districts now total $63,038, the state Department of Education reported yesterday.

Harvey Z. Snell, budgets and loans division director, said the total would increase in the next few days when the monthly payment of $24.50 per pupil is made for December.

The money comes from the state aid which would have been apportioned Little Rock's high schools had they not been closed to avoid integration.

Snell said 121 school districts receive the payments to finance instruction for 1,152 transfer students from Little Rock.

Queen Victoria's parents lived in Germany but they moved to Kensington Palace so that she would be born on English soil.

Federal Tax Take in State Drops

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A yearly trend toward a bigger federal tax bite into Arkansas was broken in 1958, the Internal Revenue Service said yesterday.

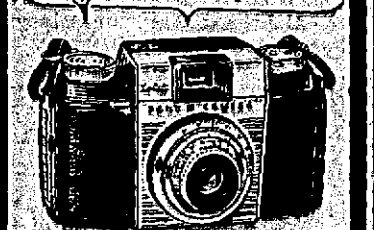

The IRS reported that the total amount of federal tax levied in Arkansas last year was $188,220,710 compared to $189,033,287 the year before.

The decline resulted in part from a drop from $32,600,798 to $29,801,028 in corporation income taxes. Individual income and social security taxes increased from $145,289,745 to $147,110,434.

Revenues, Expenditures Are Outlined by City Manager in Submitting Budget for 1959

In presenting the 1959 budget to the City Board of Directors, City Manager Garland Medders outlined an estimated of revenues and expenditures and went over some of the accomplishments during the city's first year under a city manager form of government.

Elsewhere in this issue is a copy of the proposed budget compares with last year's.

Revenues for the coming year are estimated at $255,600, some $5,679 less than in 1958. The ad valorem tax revenue is about the same but the city should realize more due to increased values. One item of $5,230 taken in for city auto tags has disappeared completely. The $28,000 from the Water and Light Plant will remain the same. Total value of free services from the plant will be about $34,000 of which $25,000 will be for city services and $8,000 for the school system.

The Airport Fund, by careful management, has been increased from $10,190 to $10,000. This includes $1,600 from the City General operation which was borrowed and the City General also paid off $7,000 of improvement district warrants which were in default.

The budget anticipates using about $14,000 of the $18,000 surplus in the City General Fund. Arrangements have been made to finance $8,000 of sewer main replacement and it is planned to issue long-term obligations for $17,500 to finance purchase of a new fire truck.

The report admitted to some activities being restricted but said most services have been expanded and that changes have been made with very little personnel turnover.

The manager's report declared that Hope provides a good many community services and activities that are unusual to most Arkansas cities of this size.

Of the more important plans for this year will be completion of a connection for wholesale power with the system of the Arkansas Power & Light. This will provide unlimited supply of power which is badly needed and several local industries who in the past generated their own power have made applications for additional power.

To have expanded the local plant would have saddled the community with a heavy bonded debt for many years. Under the APL arrangement the city can buy power for less than cost. This, together with the fact there will be no future need for heavy bonded debt, means that in the future the power system will be a steady source of income that can be put into other community facilities.

Another important step is the contract with the Planning Division of the University of Arkansas for a complete master plan for city development. Under the city arrangement the work is done at net cost with about one half covered by the federal government. The first phase of this work will be completed about the middle of this year. This involves surveying and mapping.

Mr. Medders also cited city employees for their cooperation and response and the City Board of Directors as well as the Water and Light Plant Commission.

Would Lower Age for Retirement

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A resolution urging amendment of the federal Social Security law to provide for voluntary retirement at age 60 was introduced today in the Arkansas House.

The measure also urges payment of disability benefits to any person eligible for Social Security who becomes totally and permanently disabled regardless of age.

Sponsors of the resolution, Reps. Ralph Underhill and J. H. Mood of White County, said the changes would remove a large number of elderly persons from the work force, thus alleviating unemployment problems.

Seeks Control of Boating on Lake

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A bill designed to give the Little Rock Waterworks Commission control over boating and fishing on Lake Maumelle was introduced in the Arkansas House today.

The entire Pulaski delegation sponsored the measure. It would apply to all operating authorities of city water systems but was submitted at the request of the Little Rock commission.

Pulaski Rep. Sterling Cockrill said the Little Rock commission had banned boating and swimming on the new lake but found itself powerless to cope with violators. Under the proposal, the commission could regulate erection of boat docks and the use of boats on the lake as well as prohibit swimming there.

State College Fails to Get Any Backing

By JOHN R. SARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas State college took a test for university status before a Senate education committee last night. Alumni of the University of Arkansas recommended a bill to create the college.

The committee cautiously voted to send Senate Bill 9, subject of the open hearing, back to the floor without recommendation.

The bill sponsored by nine Arkansas senators would simply change the college's name to Arkansas State University.

Spokesmen for the college told the committee Arkansas State had earned the "promotion," which would not call immediately for any additional state funds. They said creation of a second university would give Arkansas prestige and additional equipment in its search for new industry. They stoutly maintained Arkansas was not out to compete in any way with the University of Arkansas.

University alumni asserted a mere change of name would not create a university and that any new benefits given to Arkansas State would degrade educational standards of the university and all other state colleges.

Despite the wide difference of opinion the meeting was orderly. Sen. Roy Milum of Harrison, the committee chairman, presided.

A crowd which jammed the small Senate chamber and gallery cheered often, for one side or the other, but there was no booing or heckling.

The only stir came when Sen. Fred H. Stafford of Marked Tree, a sponsor of the bill, rose to challenge a University spokesman who had made frequent allegations that Arkansas could not afford two universities.

"Isn't it true that the University has one employee for each of its 5,000 students?" asked Sen. Stafford. "Isn't it true that if the University practiced economy, there would be plenty of money for all the schools?"

The speaker did not answer the question. "They never will answer that question," Stafford said later. "They can't afford to."

He predicted the bill would pass the Senate. "And were gathering strength in the House, too," he added.

Dr. Carl Reng, A-State president, said his college was not seeking to drag down other state colleges. "Rather, we're trying to carry them with us," he said. "When they're ready for university status, we'll help them." Arkansas State is ready now.

W. R. Harrison of Little Rock, president of the University Alumni Assn. quarterbacked rebuttal to Arkansas State's plan.

His speakers, brought in from all parts of the state, dwelt mainly on a shortage of state educational funds.

"This would be like a sharecropper having two television sets," said Dr. Ed Dunaway of Conway. "I am in favor of upgrading educational standards in all institutions of higher learning but when you can't afford it, it's a mistake," avowed Louis Hurley, an El Dorado banker.

"We cannot spread our butter too thinly over the bread of progress," said George Markis, Pine Bluff dairyman. "Let's put it all in one pot (the university), and make that the best pot in the United States."

Bill Asks Local Gambling Option

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A state senator said yesterday he would introduce legislation soon to allow certain counties the right of deciding by vote whether they want open gambling.

Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs said he believed Hot Springs residents were "solidly behind" the idea. He said his bill would affect those counties that have some form of legal wagering now. These counties are Garland (Hot Springs) and Crutchen.

The bill would provide for local option elections on the question of legalized gambling.

Kentucky Fights Way Back to Top of Polls

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Once-bitten Kentucky is back atop the Associated Press weekly rankings today in a quick shuffle of the top four clubs.

The Wildcats (14-1) returned to the No. 1 ranking following a week in the runner-up role after North Carolina spilled a costly lead in the second half to let the Tar Heels (10-1) pull out a 31-27 victory in the first round of the national championship game.

Bob Petit Is Still Leading Pro Scorer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Petit of the St. Louis Hawks has managed to retain his National Basketball Assn. scoring lead.

The Hawks star is No. 1 in scoring with 1,996 points, an average of 28.5. League statistics released today show Petit averaged only 22.8 points last week, lowering his mark from 28.1 a week ago.

Petit's 28.5 a game pace still is slightly ahead of the record 28.4 set by Minneapolis' George Mikan in the 1950-51 season.

Paul Arizin of Philadelphia moved to within 128 points of Portland 39; Northwestern 25; Villanova 24; Utah 22.

The first technical courses in forestry were given in Germany in 1770. Similar instruction began in France in 1824. In the United States there was little interest in applying scientific management to forest lands before 1900. About that time a movement for forest conservation and management began to develop here. Gifford Pinchot, who became the first chief of the U.S. Forest Service, was the pioneer leader in the forestation movement.

Surprising Bears of Baylor in 2nd SWC Spot

By WHITEY SAWYER
Associated Press Staff Writer

"I do think we'll have real good effort," Baylor basketball coach Bill Henderson said last night.

That was just before he started a campaign with only two victories back from a team that finished with a 3-1 record in Southwest Conference play.

He got the effort all right, and today Baylor is in second place in the championship race. Just half a game behind the leading Texas Christian Horned Frogs.

Baylor beat Texas 62-51 at Waco last night to climb to a 4-2 record. TCU is 4-1.

Last night's game was the only conference tilt on schedule this week. Saturday TCU plays Oklahoma City and Texas A&M, while the University of Houston, but most of the students are in exorbitant and change-of-semester activities.

Baylor, staggering along near the cellar in pre-conference play, now boasts an 8-7 overall mark. The Bears also boast the top scorer in championship play, Bob Turner who has 97 points.

But Carroll Dawson was the top scorer for the Bears against the puny Longhorns, scoring 17 points. Jerry Walsh, a junior college transfer who didn't even get a scholarship when he enrolled, tossed in 11 points and 100 Baylor with nine rebounds.

Turner got 10 points, victories. It left the Longhorns 1-5 in the conference cellar.

"Nobody around here is talking championship," Henderson says, however. "Everybody knows everybody else by now. We can't slip up on anybody any more. The second half is always tougher."

Spring Hill Captures Pair From Guernsey

Spring Hill cage teams won 2 out of 3 games last night from Guernsey in the Spring Hill Gym. Guernsey Junior girls took a 42-38 win with Bristow getting 25 points. Harvel also made 25 for Spring Hill.

Linda Galloway hit for 34 tallies to pace the Spring Hill Senior girls in a 45-35 victory. Linda Bristow made 13 and Jo Mosier 10 for Guernsey.

Spring Hill Senior boys grabbed a 47-33 win with Thompson getting 13 and Devenney 11 for the winners. William Foster sacked 27 for Guernsey.

Tonight the Hope Junior Varsity and Senior girls journey to Spring Hill for two games.

Minnesota Is Acting Like Big 10 Champ

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Minnesota's Golden Gophers, who haven't won a Big Ten basketball title in 22 years, are showing the other conference teams they mean business.

Monday night, the Gophers knocked off Northwestern, a preseason favorite, 71-67 to move into a four-way tie for first place. Minnesota shares the lead with Michigan State, Illinois and Michigan. Each has won three games and lost one.

Michigan State, ranked eighth in the latest Associated Press poll, whipped Ohio State 82-77 in another game on a schedule cut to the bone by mid-year examinations.

In other games Baylor defeated Texas 62-51, Colorado beat Iowa State 73-44, the Citadel turned back Clemson 55-44, Georgia nipped Florida State 44-31, and Gonzaga jarred 17th-ranked Portland 75-48.

Paul Lehman pumped in 18 of his 22 points for Minnesota in the first half, as the Gophers forged ahead 39-28. Northwestern tied the score early in the second half but Minnesota, hitting from outside, pulled away for good with a 15-8 surge. Willie Jones had 24 points for Northwestern.

Michigan State never was headed after hitting four straight baskets to take the lead at 26-20. John Green had 26 points for the Spartans before Coach Ford Anderson pulled him midway in the second half. Larry Siegfried led Ohio State with 20.

Baylor's victory enabled it to break a tie for second place in the Southwest Conference. Texas Christian leads with 4-1.

Rus Lind helped propel Colorado from a 35-31 halftime deficit. The Colorado triumph enabled the Buffaloes to tie Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska for second place in the Big Eight at 3-1. Kansas State is tops with 4-0.

The Citadel won its eighth game of the season against two losses. A superlative team effort by Georgia overcame the prolific scoring of Florida State's Hugh Durham and Donnie Bates. Durham had 36 points and Bates 34.

Dixie White to Remain at Arkansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — In almost simultaneous announcements yesterday, it was disclosed that Dixie White did not want the head football coach's job at Stephen F. Austin College — and that the job was filled.

Officials at the Nacogdoches, Tex., school said William Conkright, University of Houston defensive line coach, had been hired to replace Harold Fischer who recently resigned as Stephen F. Austin's head coach.

White, offensive line coach at the University of Arkansas, said he had withdrawn from consideration to the position at the Texas school "after thoughtfully considering the situation."

"An important part of my decision was based upon the high caliber of athletes with whom I have worked at the University of Arkansas and upon the loyalty of the people of Arkansas toward our athletic program," he said.

White came to Arkansas in 1955 when Stephen F. Austin, where he had served as an assistant coach.

White said he made his decision to remain here after talking over the offer with Arkansas' head coach, Frank Broyles, and Athletic Director John Barnhill.

Enemy Subs Could Spread Germs on U.S.

By ROGER GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—An enemy submarine, disguised by fog or darkness, could spread germs on the United States coast by using a biological aerosol containing a deadly virus, according to a report of a study by the Navy.

Although it already has been reported that the Navy is studying the possibility of using a biological aerosol to spread germs on the coast, the report says that the Navy is studying the possibility of using a biological aerosol to spread germs on the coast.

THE STORY: After Gil Yeager wins a fist fight with Brick Rand, one of Rand's cowboys named Starker attacks Gil on horseback and tries to spur him. The arrival of Jed Mims with a carbine interrupts the attack.

Chapter VIII

"This thing stops right here," Hyatt emphasized. He put his glance on the three riders. "All right, Starker — you and Jenks and Partridge get out of town!" Mitch Starker, dark-faced, bull-necked, wanted to argue the point.

"We came with Brick, we stay with him."

"Rand will be taken care of," Hyatt said curtly.

Klint Hyatt came fully around, and abruptly this lank, stooped, sour-faced man of the star seemed to gain in stature, while a current of definite authority rolled along the street. Mitch

'Alice' Was Wonderful on Omnibus

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—J. P. Perlman detects clues. But it he will pardon me, his "Alice in Wonderland" on Omnibus (NBC-TV) was a dandy and a dilly.

In Monday morning papers we called it the best satire on TV in many months. It didn't really require three days' reflection to call it the best satire ever seen on TV.

A hilarious hour of television based on three Perelman stories,

Starker eyed him sullenly, then switched his glance to put a long stare on Gil Yeager before turning away with the other two. Hyatt watched them for a moment, then turned to Jed Mims. "Now I'll take that gun!"

Mims surrendered it. Hyatt jacked the weapon empty, handed it back. "Next time you hit town, leave this thing in your saddle boot."

Ollie Ladd took hold of Rand and steered him away on shuffling, uncertain feet. Klint Hyatt turned to Gil Yeager.

"What have you to say for yourself just because you stand cleared of the old charge doesn't mean you're free to run wild. What set off this row?"

Starker now, Yeager shrugged. "I'm just leaving Patch Kelly's Rand and the others come riding. Rand sees me, pulls up and starts throwing the rawhide. I give it back to him. Simple as that."

"Just so!" exulted Jed Mims. "And Mister Rand buys himself one first class currying! Gil, that last lick you hit him sounded like you'd broke a board." He gripped Yeager's arm. "Boy, you could stand a mite of cleaning up, and a drink wouldn't hurt you none, either. Come along to Jake Dolwig's and we'll take care of both."

"An idea," Yeager agreed. "Go on," Hyatt said. "But remember what I told you. You'll get no special privileges from me."

Yeager turned to the store porch for his gear, and for the first time was conscious of the people standing there. Patch Kelly for one. Burke and Laurie Benedict for two more.

Together with Barney Flood, Jake Dolwig stood at the door of the Lodgepole Bar. They had witnessed the fight and Barney Flood, a wispy little man who smelled eternally of leather, saddle soap and shoemaker's wax, was spitting excitedly.

"Now there was something!" I never expected to see somebody take on Brick Rand in a rough and tumble and cut him down to size so complete. But it happened, by jollies! I know it did, because I seen it!"

Jed Mims spun a chair into place for Gil Yeager, then called for a bucket of water. Jake Dolwig brought this, along with a clean bar towel. Yeager doused the towel, then held it, wet and cold and greatly comforting to his bruised face.

The door of the saloon opened and Ollie Ladd came in, darkly glowering. He placed his forbidding bulk in front of Yeager and growled out an announcement.

"You know what you did, Yeager? You broke Brick Rand's jaw. That's gettin' pretty rough."

Yeager lifted his fist and stared at it. "This is all I hit him with."

"No matter. You broke his jaw."

"Well, what of it?" challenged Jed Mims truculently. "It was an even-up two-man ruckus wasn't it? Gil was just usin' his fists against Rand's two. And for that matter there could be some along Summit Prairie me included who wouldn't have wept none of Gil had broke Rand's neck."

Ollie Ladd began to bristle growling deep in his throat. Jake Dolwig stopped him with sharp words.

"A minute Ollie," Dolwig who had gone around behind the bar now faced the hulking deputy levelly across it. "Do you bring anything legal to Yeager? You aiming to slap an arrest on him?"

"Well—no," Ollie floundered a little. "I'm just tellin' him—"

"You needn't!" snapped Dolwig brusquely. "You brought the news about Rand's jaw. That's enough. Any time you come into my place on strict official business, then I got to take your swagger and like it. But when it isn't official, then I don't have to take anything from you. Neither do my customers or my friends."

Alert verbal repartee had never been a strong point with Ollie Ladd. His word was strictly physical, ruled by reliance on brute strength and imposing bulk. Now, made uncertain and uncomfortable by Jake Dolwig's flat pronouncement, he shifted and glowered, then went ponderously out.

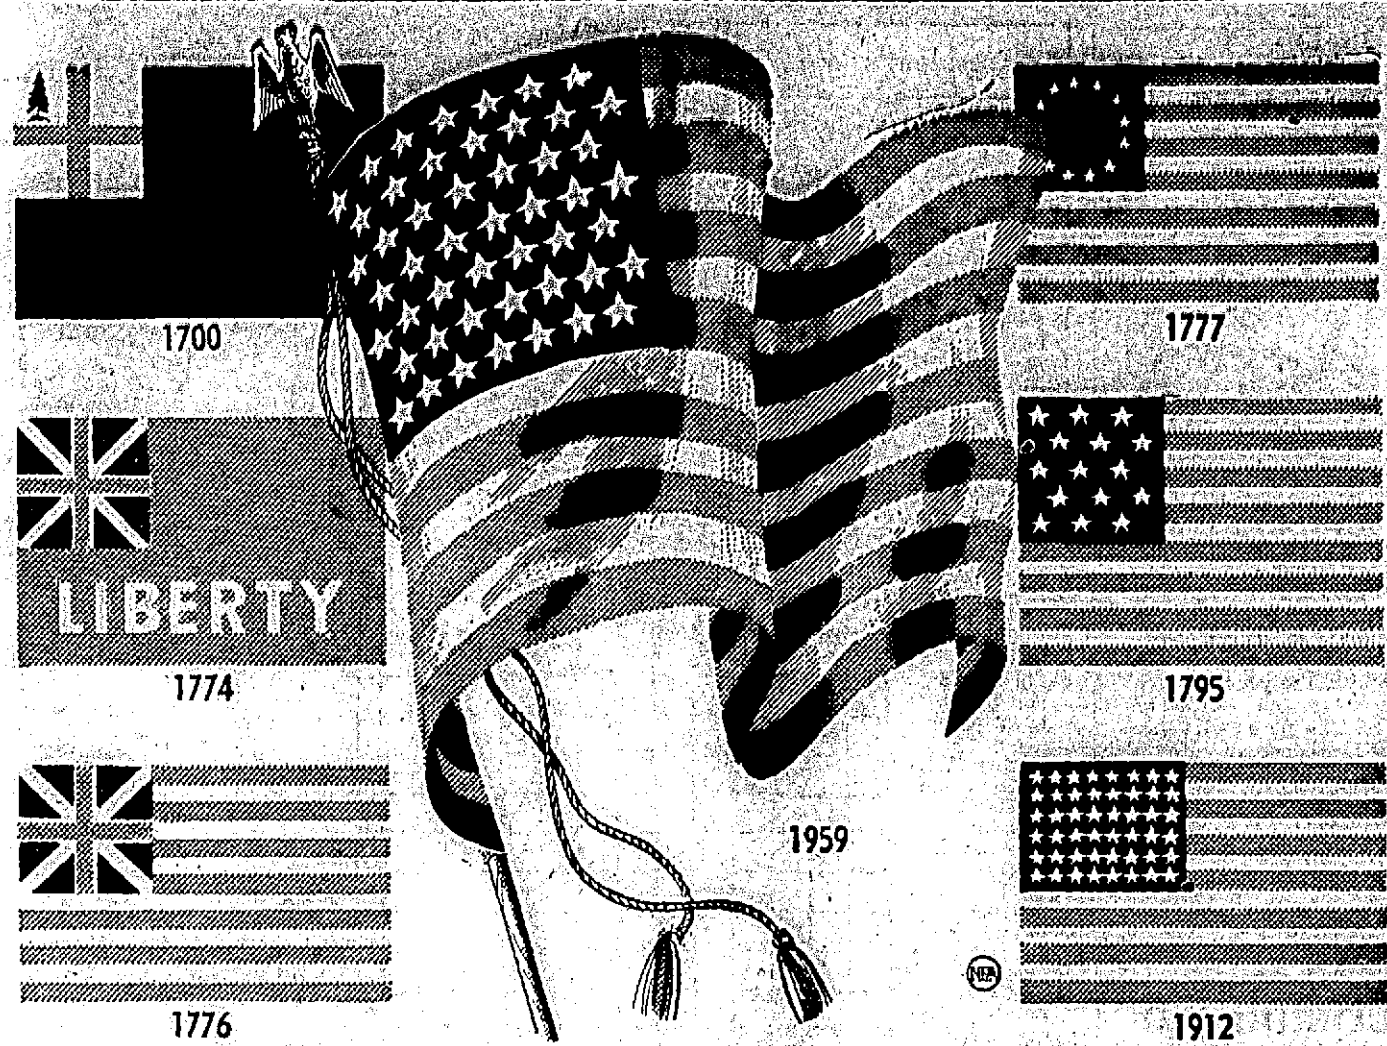

Gil Yeager was staring at his fist, flexing and unflexing it. A faintly somber shadow lay in his eyes. Jed Mims, observing, spoke quickly.

"Be glad it was his jaw, not yours. If it had happened the other way round, he wouldn't be caring. What you need is another drink."

Yeager shook his head. "What I need is to get out of town. What you riding with now, Jed?"

"If you mean what outfit, not any. I been swishing it back in the Coulee Glades with Alec Trexvant and his girl."

OLD GLORY'S EVOLUTION—The American flag has been studded with pine trees, carried stars in many patterns, and featured variations of the Union Jack. Some of the milestones in the progress of the banner to its present 48-star design are depicted above. The New England flag, upper left, designed around 1700 and carried at the battle of Bunker Hill, featured the British insignia. Predating the Revolution by two years was the Liberty flag, hoisted over the green at Taunton, Mass. The Grand Union flag, featuring 13 red and white stripes, one for each colony, was carried in 1776 by the newly formed Continental army. In 1777, almost a year after the Declaration of Independence, the Continental Congress adopted the "Betsy Ross" banner with its 13 stars and stripes. Honoring the admission of Vermont and Kentucky, two more stripes were added in 1795. The practice of adding stripes was soon discontinued, and the flag reverted to 13 bars. A star continued to be added for each new state. The 48-star field came into being with the admission of Arizona in 1912. It remained unchanged until Alaska's formal entry into the Union this year.

House Group Starts Work on the Budget

By WILLIAM L. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee starts work on President Eisenhower's 77-billion-dollar budget today with two key members saying it can be cut.

But the general tenor of comments among Democrats — who hold large majorities in both House and Senate — indicated that Congress is more likely to raise than to decrease the total.

Maurice Stans, director of the Budget Bureau, and Secretary of the Treasury, Robert Anderson, were called before the committee to explain details of Eisenhower's spending plans for the year starting July 1.

Both Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) and Rep. John Taber of New York, senior committee Republican, said they believed the budget could be cut.

They never saw a budget that couldn't be cut, they said in separate statements. But they didn't say where or how much. The committee will work several months on those questions.

Following today's meeting of the 50-member group, the committee will break up into subcommittees to start whittling into shape more than a dozen separate bills providing the money to finance the concerned a New York psychoanalyst named Randy Kalbfus who went to the wonderland known as Hollywood and completely mixed up his id and his ego. He was grandly played by Keenan Wynn.

Randy's downfall was largely caused by a statuesquely beautiful movie extra named Audrey Meridew delightfully portrayed by Julie Newman. She made Randy's slide completely understandable—and prompted one of the most wonderful broad act curtain lines ever heard on television.

"As Randy ordered after the undulating Arkadey, he raised his eyes to heaven and said: 'Fogiv me, Sigmund, for I know not what I do.'"

The entire cast was superb. Under the fine direction of James Lee it seemed unlikely that these splendidly grotesque characters really were actors.

But the man at the heat of all this merry matter was Perelman. Like every fine satirist, he is a stern moralist. He sees vanity, egotism, psychomania and allied disorders of the soul as mortal sins. But instead of inveighing against these human frailties, he laughs at them.

"Alice in Wonderland" was not simply a satire of life in Hollywood. Rather, it satirized human attitudes.

This single program increased television's stature and showed what it can do.

How Many Beans...

Perhaps you, too, stood outside a store window in your youth and tried to estimate the number of beans in a display.

Guessing the circulation of a newspaper was once quite a game for advertisers,

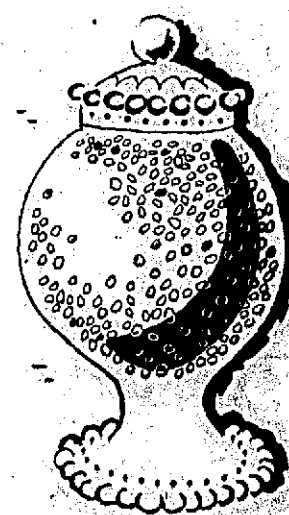

But the Audit Bureau of Circulations took all the chance out of this game. A.B.C. auditors don't stand outside and estimate—they come inside the publisher's office and count.

When the auditor is finished and his precise findings published, well there's just no room for guessing.

It's all there in his report—how much circulation, where copies were circulated, how much people paid, and some of the reasons why the people bought our paper.

There's no reason to guess about the circulation audience you get when you advertise in our paper. The facts are down in black and white for you to see.
